The engineering firm made a complete survey of the road where several landslides have occurred and also made a plan of the work that will be necessary for rebuild the road. Roughly, they estimate

Cheer Up

(St. Catharines Standard)

Cheer up, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. They can't put the big ones on top and the little sour ones on the bottom when they market the grapes. Or can they?

THE LITTLE TRICKLE HAS BECOME A TORRENT

And the packing and shipment out of this district of poor, small, green, immature peaches goes merrily on. What was just a little trickle of bum stuff being packed and shipped three weeks ago, has become a torrent of terrible rubbish being loaded onto the markets for the public to pay good money for, carry home and damp in the can, for the garbageman to cart away.

Can you imagine fruit growers picking and packing Elberta peaches the middle of last week? Not on the low end of the district alone, where they always ripen earlier, but right here in the Grimsby section. What in the name of heavens does a grower expect a housewife to do with that kind of fruit? Any grower who thinks that she can make any use of it should go and get his head read. Daily newspaper offices are inundated with letters from housewives complaining about the rotten grade of fruit that they obtained when they purchased peaches. The red netting was very flashy. The top layer was lovely fruit. The rest just rubbish. Stuff that a canning factory manager would throw back in a grower's face, yet it is sent out onto the open market for the housewife, the restaurants and the big hotel dining rooms to use.

Over 75 weekly newspapers from all parts of Ontario come to my desk every week. The past two issues there has hardly been a paper that did not have letters or report having received complaints regarding the lousy grade of peaches that the public had paid out good, hard earned money for.

This situation has got to be eliminated, and before another season too. The terribly depleted staff of inspectors are doing all they can do, but with the small number of men on the job and the weak law that exists, governing the situation, they are not making any headway in the present maelstrom. In the

Grimsby Boy Is Plant Manager

J. Eric Jarvis Is In Charge Of White Aircraft Co. Factory — New Addition Being Built.

Grimsby's newest industry, the White Aircraft Co. which recently purchased the E.D.H. property on Elizabeth street, have already started to make extensions to their plant.

Work has commenced on the construction of a one storey addition to the main building on the west end. This new addition will be 30 feet by 50 feet and will be used for stock and storage room purposes.

The Independent is pleased to welcome back to Grimsby an old Grimsby boy in the person of J. Eric Jarvis, a son of Eric and Mrs. Jarvis for many years residents on Kerman avenue. Eric went to Grimsby Public and High schools and then to University. He will be the resident Manager and Engineer of the local plant.

New machinery is still being moved into the factory but even at that seven employees are already busy on production work.

fruit in the Niagara district as against the camouflaged baskets that are sold in Ottawa."

Peaches of this size, we can assume, are not run-of-the-tree, but size is of less importance than quality. In a basket marked No. 1 the purchaser is entitled to find sound fruit well packed, ripe or ripening. Two baskets bought by a man in The JOURNAL in the past week or two are fair samples of what is coming to Ottawa this season from the Niagara district, judging by the complaints we hear. In the first basket one-half of the peaches were wormy. In the second basket a heavy percentage of the peaches had been picked so green that they rotted—they did not ripen. Both were marked No. 1. Both, camouflaged in pink netting, misled the purchaser by hiding the flaws.

There is no excuse for dishonest packing and deliberate deception—the Niagara fruit business is being badly served by those who market inferior goods at the price of high-quality products. One wonders what has become of the provincial grading inspectors.

Shades of Jonathan Woolverton, Linus Woolverton, Hamilton Pettit, J.W.G. Nelles and scores of others of the pioneers who laid the foundation of the great fruit industry of this district. If those men could only know what is taking place in this district right now they would certainly turn and twist in their graves. They produced good fruit. They pioneered in the production of good fruit and good, honest packing. They built up a reputation for the high quality and high grade of the fruit of this district, particularly with regards to Grimsby peaches. That reputation is being shot, ripped and torn to shreds by a minority number of unscrupulous, positively horse thieving growers.

The only difference between the growers that are packing and shipping this volume of rubbish and the famous Jesse James is, that Jesse used a gun and went out openly to do his thieving, whereas the unscrupulous grower hides behind a wooden container and a piece of flashy red netting. All honor to Jesse James.

FACTS & FANCIES

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

ARE WE SLAVES?

Canadians have been told that this country is bound tightly by monopoly, ridden by cartels. That would indeed be an awkward position. I can't think of anything to compare with it, except possibly to have one's foot caught in the stirrup when the saddle girth has slipped and the rider finds himself beneath instead of on top of the horse, writes R. J. Deachman.

In order to relieve the average man who very definitely does not want to be the slave of either cartels or combines, the modern devils of the day, I present a few figures which give the facts. Read them, remembering as you do that cartels and combines are supposed to raise prices in the countries in which they function—and, at least as far as the records show, they function feebly in Canada:

Price Index Increases since the Outbreak of War to February, 1945, in Canada and Other Countries.

(Pre-war level—100)	Cost of Living	Wholesale
Canada	117.7	142.3
Australia	122.5	143.2
United States	128.7	140.3
Great Britain	130.3	170.4
Eire	170.5
Mexico	201.6	178.6
Chile	222.8	219.2
India	218.1	290
Turkey, April, 1944	279	463

All that remains is to point out two things:

(1) Our cost of living seems to be, at least as low, as that of any other leading country in the world which has had a part in the war—this includes also those which kept out of war.

(2) Wholesale prices are low in Canada, close to the lowest.

What conclusion can we reach in regard to the suggestions that this is a monopoly ridden country? It may be that combines and cartels are beneficial—I don't believe it for a moment—though in one form or another they may be a part of this world for many a day.

What is the other conclusion: Cartels and combines affect only a part of our economy—and a comparatively small portion—small compared with the exaggerations heard about them. It is then a situation which calls for reason, not panic, careful study rather than gullibility. Speaking or writing of crimes—gullibility, a willingness to accept everything we hear, is certainly a major one. Better that we should spend sometime exploring the facts, if only as a means of putting us on guard against those, who, with great persistence urge us to believe—not always the truth, but the things they want us to believe.

ONE MEETS SUCH INTERESTING PEOPLE

First trip through the mountains, she told us at lunch. She'd gone west by T.C.A. to Vancouver, had visited Seattle. Funny how the Seattle people had crowded the boat. They just don't listen to the radio. There'd been warnings that Vancouver and Victoria were jammed but just the same one couldn't get a seat on the deck. People really were funny.

She was stopping off a day or two in Regina to see some friends and then was going on to Montreal by air. No more trains for her; they're too slow. She wouldn't come again until the war was really over, but cottage vacations had really got to be quite a bore.

No, she hadn't had any trouble about plane reservations. The firm she works for has all kinds of priorities and she got what she wanted. There were two women kept off the plane in Winnipeg and they made an awful fuss but the silly things should have stayed home in the first place.—The Printed Word.

FAILURE

To most men, failure is an enemy, but to those of perception she is friend. She is a guardian on strange paths, the guide to the strongholds of success. Her fee is sincerity and truth.

To some, the company of failure is shameful. To the wise, she is an inspiration. Her touch renews their courage, spurs their effort, rekindles their hope. They know the restraint of failure has not destroyed the dream; it has merely pointed out the wrong road.

Scientists know that. Edison dreamed the electric lamp, and tried some 2,000 materials before he perfected a practical filament. Two thousand failures? No, just 2,000 new ideas: all the ways it couldn't be done.

The years of effort Pierre and Marie Curie invested in the isolation of radium: were they a record of failure? They would have been, if, to the Curies failure had not been inspiration. The long and continuing annals of the conquest of disease are an endless record of unsuccessful trial, challenging the courage and imagination to still further effort.

A wise father will buy his son boards, and let him make a box. The corners may not be square; the lid may not fit, but the boy will have learned more about the next box than if the father had saved him from his failure with the first.

Failure is humiliating when the same lesson has to be learned twice. It is shameful when it results from the overweening vanity of success. Success teaches some men much the same lesson that failure would. It abhors them, and impels them to walk humbly before their destiny. For the others, who think success is an occasion for pride, disaster awaits around some hidden corner, in the company of oblivion. With them stands failure, stern and unrelenting.

THE THINGS MONEY CAN'T BUY

The late George Horace Lorimer for many years editor of the Saturday Evening Post, once wrote these words: "It is a good thing to have money and, the things that money can buy, but it is good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy."

The things that money can't buy would make a long list. Here are some of them:

Money can't buy real friendship—friendship must be earned.

Money can't buy a clear conscience—square dealing is the price tag.

Money can't buy happiness—happiness is a mental condition and one may be as happy in a cottage as in a mansion.

Money can't buy sunsets, songs of wild birds, and the music of the wind in the trees—these are as free as the air we breathe.

Money can't buy inward peace—peace is the result of a constructive philosophy of life.

Money can't buy a good character—good character is achieved through decent habits of private living and wholesome dealings in our open contracts with our fellow men.

Continue the list yourself. You'll agree that among the things money can't buy are some of the most valuable treasures life has to offer.

IF YE BREAK FAITH

"If ye break faith"—you will remember McCrae's immortal poem written during the last war.

Well, we did break faith. We let the men who came home face conditions that drove them nearly crazy. Back in Canada they faced a more insidious foe than they had in Flanders. They faced an inflation that whipped thousands of them. They didn't have a chance to build homes, get started in a small business... buy equipment for a farm.

Hundreds of them died of sheer discouragement, thousands grew hard and bitter and resentful... no wonder.

Their new "civies" cost them $75 to $100 a suit. Shoes were from $12 to $18 a pair. Work socks cost $1.25 a pair. Their wives were trying to run a house with food prices that were utterly beyond their capacity to pay.

Many young homesteaders on the prairie had enlisted, and when they returned to their farms to start over again the prices of stock were terrific. They paid $500 to $700 for a team of plow horses; $80 to $100 for a cow; $2 apiece for hens. Plows, harrows, discs, harness, feed were all priced accordingly. The upshot of it was that hundreds of them failed, and became a burden on the country they had fought to keep free. They died of slow hunger and discouragement. Their children grew up bitter and hard as nails.

Are we going to "break faith" again, Canada?

No government, no set of rules can save us from a post-war inflation. It's in the hands of eleven million Canadians whether inflation will overcome us again, or not. We have the say. It's our country... our government... our world. Fighting together, like the boys overseas, we can whip anything on earth, even hard times.

BUZZ-SAW MUSIC

It is strange how a vagrant sound, which you might have heard yesterday, will strike through to a long-lost memory and call forth a day that is past—so far past. This time it was the whine of a buzz-saw. You recalled a certain day when your father bought a cord of wood and hired a man with a portable buzz-saw to cut it up for him.

That was a great day. The little gas engine, connected by belt with the saw, was a marvel of ingenuity. It chugged once or twice at intervals, until the saw bit into the wood, when the extra load woke the spark, and the exhaust coughed with every revolution. To your mind, that engine had power!

You weren't aware of it then, but the whine of that saw was to become part of your being. The high-pitched "whi-i-line" waving down and back was punctured by a sharp "zing" at the end of each cut. It raucous music had a crude rhythm which you measured off unconsciously. It was fascinating to watch the whirling teeth bite through the wood, smooth and clean, as if it were butter. Once or twice they let you hold a piece as the saw cut through it.

The pile of sticks beside the saw table grew. As the breeze swirled around it, it brought you the unforgettable aroma of newly-cut wood. You looked at the sawn ends, pleased to find one where the saw had cut through a knot. You counted the rings which measured the years the tree had lived.

Altogether, it was an exciting day. Nothing in it was marred, even when your father suggested you would be helping to pile the wood, after he had split it. That would be on another day. This day was filled with music and adventure; life's cup was full.

A reliable man soon gains the attention and respect of his employer. When an opportunity arises, this fellow is usually the first in line to get it.

Before you go to sleep tonight ask yourself if the firm you are with, and the world in general, is any better off because of your having lived another day.

The flag pole on the town lot, next the bank, has been fixed so it can be raised and lowered on a hinge.

Highway Road Foreman Peter Robertson and his crew have finished giving the old street a coating of tar and fine stone.

Heat waves rising off the pavement last week reminded one of the tropics. We could have used that heat last December 11th and 12th.

Norm. Harris telling Bob Bourne that none of the burn fruit going on the market is his, because he does not grow any peaches that are smaller than a softball.

"Jimmy" Dunham trying to explain to "new Canadians" that most ration tokens are not sold in two dollar lots, but must be obtained in exchange for a coupon. A tedious job.

6:45 in the a.m. West, the Barber, sweeping off his sidewalk. 8:45 a.m. just two hours later Eric Bucksham sweeping off his sidewalk. 5:45 p.m. a lot of sidewalks that never felt a broom all day, every day.

Your present job is the road you are now travelling on. It may be a main road, a detour, or a connecting road, but it surely is attached to the great highways that lead to the ultimate of our dreams.

LAUNDRY SOAP SHORTAGE SOON JUST A MEMORY

Several million pounds more soap will soon be available to Canadian housewives, who may have experienced regional shortages of laundry soap, according to a recent Wartime Prices and Trade Board announcement. A redistribution of soap fat will be the basis of the increased supply.

The shortage of laundry soap was due somewhat to a recent scarcity of one of the particular ingredients of this kind of soap but perhaps even more to panic buying and hoarding, Board officials state.

Greenwood—Fairweather

The wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Fairweather, Grimsby, on September 1, when their daughter, Esther Lorna, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Kineman Greenwood, a relative of the bride officiated.

The bride entered the living room on the arm of her father wearing a white satin gown with a floor-length embroidered veil, caught up with a headress of white velvet and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Talmian roses. She was attended by Miss Lorna Atkinson, wearing a pink brocaded organza gown and carrying a bouquet of gladioli.

Little Lesters Irene Fairweather was flower girl and wore a long dress of aqua blue taffeta, trimmed with pink, and carried white roses. Cpl. M. B. Fairweather was best man. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Duncan MacInnis, of Grimsby. A reception for about 50 guests was held at The Flines. Later, the couple left for points east, the bride travelling in a deep mauve suit trimmed with gold sequins, and she wore a mauve velvet hat.

MABEY—MUIR

Knox Church, St. Catharines, was the setting for the wedding on Sat. evening, Sept. 1, at 7 o'clock, when Lillian Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Muir, became the bride of Mr. Charles Edward Mabey, son of Mrs. Mabey and the late Mr. C. F. Mabey, Hamilton, formerly of Grimsby.

Red and white gladioli, palms and ferns made an effective background for the ceremony, conducted by the Rev. H. M. Coulter. Mr. Gordon Kaye played the wedding music and Mrs. Norman Cowell was the soloist.

Wearing a gown of white satin, made on long simple lines with clusters of orange blossoms and a sweetheart neckline, the bride was given in marriage by her father. A Juliet cap of seed pearls and crystal beads held her veil and she carried a cascade of orchids and white gladioli. Her attendants were her sister, Miss Bernice Muir, maid

Household Hint

Here is a magic recipe for cleaning floors, linoleum, woodwork, etc., sent in by a reader of The Independent.

1 cup Coal Oil
1 cup Turpentine
1 cake Paraffin Wax

Melt the wax, and mix it with the Coal Oil and Turpentine. Shake well. Use 1/4 cup to 1/2 gall warm water.

Note—Keep coal oil and turpentine away from fire.

Dust the surface before washing with the mixture.

of honour, who wore a princess gown of pale blue marquisette with a halo of flowers and a colonial bouquet. Little Miss Judith Heisley, flower girl, was in a floor-length frock of pink and blue dotted marquisette and a little pink mohair bonnet and carried a nosegay.

Mr. Winston Morrison, Toronto, was the groomsmen, and the ushers were Cpl. Douglas Muir, who returned from overseas duty on Thursday, and Mr. Edward Shirton Hamilton.

A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the Welland House. Mrs. Muir wore a long gown of turquoise crepe trimmed with crystal beading, a small feathered hat and veil in matching shade and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Mabey wore a smart black suit with black feather-trimmed hat, a peach-toned blouse and corsage of roses. For going away, the bride was attired in a light blue three-piece suit, a navy hat and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Mabey will live in Hamilton.

Our thanks are extended to the many boys and girls who so willingly assisted in the work, and also to the citizens for their generous donations.

MAGUIRE—KEMP

The marriage of Doris Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Kemp, St. Catharines to Mr. William George Maguire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maguire, Grimsby, took place in St. Paul Street United Church, St. Catharines, on Labor Day afternoon. The Rev. Roy Frid, assisted by the Rev. W. Long Port Robinson, conducted the ceremony during which soft organ music was played.

Wearing a gown of white satin, made on long simple lines with clusters of orange blossoms and a sweetheart neckline, the bride was given in marriage by her father. A Juliet cap of seed pearls and crystal beads held her veil and she carried a cascade of orchids and white gladioli. Her attendants were her sister, Miss Bernice Muir, maid of honor, were pink net over taffeta with pink Chapel veil caught with blue flowers. Madeline Brunton in blue sheer with matching Chapel veil arranged with pink flowers, and Miss Alberta Brunton in pink sheer with Chapel veil and contrasting flowers, were the bridesmaids. Colonial bouquets of asters, rosebuds and carnations were carried by the three attendants.

Mr. Fred Kemp was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Glenn Pyatt and Mr. S. Spencer.

A reception was held at Hotel Leonard where Mrs. Kemp, in delphinium blue with navy hat and accessories and Mrs. Maguire, in powder blue with black hat and accessories, received with the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire left for Bala, Muskoka, and on their return will make their home in St. Catharines. Going away the bride wore a dress of yellow wool, black hat and accessories and powder blue wool coat.

On Saturday, September 15th, the Children's Aid Society of St. Catharines and Lincoln County will hold its annual Tag Day in Grimsby. The convenor will be Mrs. George Warner.

At present, the Society is supervising 142 cases in the County and City involving neglect factors from physical neglect, drunkenness, juvenile delinquency to illegitimacy. The cost of this supervision has had to be met from private and other funds. In addition, the cost of supervising 146 children in free and adoptive homes has to be met by the Society. The municipality is only responsible for the care of some 70 children in boarding homes. There is every indication that marital problems are on the increase, and as a consequence, child neglect is growing. The end of the War has found a great number of families dislocated. Divorces and legal separations have increased. The children are the first to suffer and they need protection now more than ever before. The large increase in population throughout the County has created overcrowded housing conditions which are not conducive to wholesome living.

New Chlorinator Will Cost $1,655

Grimsby Water Commission in special session on Tuesday night passed a motion to purchase a new type M.B.V.C.M. manual central vacuum chlorinator, complete with distributor and heater, for the pump house, at a cost of $1,655, sales tax included.

The new system will place the chlorine direct into the pumping main instead of into the well that the water is pumped from, thus assuring a better distribution of the chlorine.

The new plant will be installed immediately. The old plant will be repaired and kept for emergency purposes.

Million Visitors

Weary Customs officials at Fort Erie mop their brows and regard the future with fear and trepidation as they view the calculations of a Fort Erie man as to how many tourists have crossed the Peace Bridge during the last two months. This mathematical wizard has it figured out that during the months of July and August more than one million persons crossed the border en route to all parts of Eastern Canada. Now that gasoline rationing has been banned, customs men expect an even larger boom across this bridge.

Many times we wish the tall person in front of us at the movies could be a displaced person.

REAL ESTATE

The deal was closed on Tuesday whereby C. J. Delaplante purchased the Marlatt brick block on Main street west from the Marlatt estate. AGE OF "MIRACLES" this gigantic system of transportation.

When "Lindy's" next issue of the familiar heretofore undecipherable, "Blue Folder" is handed out you will find that it is much easier to read and very much more understandable than the "Chinese Puzzles" issued for the past half century.

The Blue Folder contains arrival and departure times of approximately 1,100 passenger trains operating between points on Canadian National Railways, as well as those running in part over other lines to points in the United States. In addition, the consist of each train is shown, with information regarding parlor and sleeping cars, and dining car service.

Changes now being made will enable the intending traveller to answer his own questions relating to such matters. Ruled lines will be eliminated from tables, except where they are needed to establish separation; borders will disappear, as well as leaders and other marks that confuse the eye.

Reference symbols will be simplified and reduced to a minimum. The index page, comprising table of contents, time zone definitions, and six months' calendar, will also carry explanatory notes, which will assist the traveller to find his way through the folder.

CHARGED JAP

Roy Marsh, Mrs. Claude Beden and the Misses Marsh are austra.

A war correspondent's dispatch reading of PFC. Marsh's death, reads as follows:-

"Disregarding a shell fragment wound in his arm, Marine Private First Class Wallace W. Marsh gave his life on a one-man charge on a Jap machine gun emplacement, enabling his rifle company to make an important advance on Iwo Jima.

"Marsh's charge came when his 20th Marines unit was locked in a desperate struggle with the Japs for Turkey Knob, a key point in the enemy's defense. Heavy Jap fire had halted the advance over the shell-pocked terrain. Casualties were mounting.

"The Iowa Marine spotted a Jap machine gun approximately 75 yards ahead of his line. It appeared to be the key to the Jap's fire power. Disregarding his wound, Marsh climbed out of his foxhole and started a one-man rush at the emplacement.

"As he advanced, his weapon became jammed. But Marsh didn't stop. He continued forward, throwing hand grenades. He killed two Japs before being wounded mortally as he stormed the emplacement.

"Inspired by his act, his buddies swept ahead, clearing out the remaining Japs manning the gun, and the assault swept on."

put to keep up an adequate supply of water for all users. While the supply failed no one, still certain sections of the town and township had very little pressure.

Both canning factories are now running and the C.N.R. is using a lot of water. The heat wave caused more water to be used in the households but citizens did not help the situation any by living up to the lawn sprinkling regulations and consequently a great amount of water was used that should not have been used.

This heat wave has brought most forcibly to the forefront again the urgent need for a new reservoir of large capacity. As the situation now stands the present reservoir is next to useless as it will not hold more than half an ordinary day's supply and as a consequence the pumps have to be used every day from 10 to 12 and more hours. When a heavy peak demand for water comes then the pumps are operated 24 hours a day and pressure in certain sections is not what it should be.

In other words there is practically no reserve supply behind the pumps and when a sudden rise in consumption occurs the pumps are strained to meet it and operating costs rise accordingly.

It must be remembered that the present reservoir was constructed in 1904 and while practically all the rest of the system has been rebuilt and increased in capacity to meet the growing demands of a growing town and district, nothing has ever been done to increase the capacity of the storage supply.

When the Grimsby system was built 41 years ago it would have kept the then village scratching to have a population of 1,000. Now the town is away over double that size and the thickly populated sections of North Grimsby, east and west, are also being supplied with water.

Citizens are asked to please conserve water on all hot days and thus help the Water Commission to give every user an adequate supply. Next year the situation will be remedied when a new storage reservoir will be constructed.

POSSIBILITIES

Irons, whose windows have recently been highly acclaimed for their artistic merit.

Bishop Fleming described the Altar-piece in the Cathedral which carries the Gospel of the Incarnation in terms which are meaningful not only to the northern natives but to the white men of the north, traders, trappers and Mounties.

There is perhaps no one living to-day who has had such opportunity to know the vast reaches of Arctic Canada as the Bishop, who expressed himself as profoundly impressed by the possibilities of the Eskimo for playing an important role in the life of the Dominion, and that those who advocated leaving them alone just do not know whereof they speak. They are endowed naturally with mechanical brains and that they are the most likely people among whom to find Canada's aeronautical engineers and pilots of the future.

The Arctic missions are in these days costly ventures of the Church of England in Canada and the Bishop of the Arctic is charged with the task of raising a large sum annually to make the work possible, an investment which in the years to come will be considered one of the most far-seeing ventures of faith that could have been undertaken, capable of paying in terms of enlightened citizenship dividends far beyond present hopes.

On Saturday evening the Bishop spoke to a large gathering of men informally at the Rectory, where all had an opportunity to meet him personally and to have a few words with him.

Dunville, Sept. 10—Quadruplets were born in hospital here at 3 a.m. today to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Smith, of nearby Cainsor.

The babies, two boys and two girls, as well as being quadruplets, were literally like two sets of identical twins. The first, a girl, weighing three pounds 15 ounces, arrived at 2 a.m.; the other girl arrived two hours later, and the boys were born soon after the birth of the second girl. All were placed in an incubator.

The mother, who is a registered nurse, is a graduate of Hamilton General Hospital. Before her marriage she was an assistant to Dr. E. L. McNamee who "brought the babies into the world."

To All Blood Donors Thank You

2,347,000 blood donations were made in Canada, 1,423,000 in Ontario, through the volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society since the first clinics were established in January, 1940. The lives of hundreds in the army, the navy and the air force were saved through this service.

This record was only made possible through your donations of blood. We wish to thank you sincerely for your generous help at a time when the need was so great. Special thanks are also given to the doctors, nurses, transport drivers and all other volunteers who gave so generously of their time and talents.

The Volunteer Blood Donor Service is now closed as a war measure. A new challenge is presented, however, for many deaths occur in Canadian hospitals each year for lack of an adequate transfusion service.

To meet this need, the Red Cross is making a survey with a view to providing all Canadian hospitals with blood for transfusion purposes. To our thanks, then, we add an invitation to help us as we continue our humanitarian work. When the time comes, and plans are ready, announcements will be duly made.

at Ottawa, a position he took at the request of the Canadian Government, Sam Bernardo, Proprietor of County Motors here, is now engaged in the re-organization of his business and of building up the staff to its former degree of efficiency.

No. 20 E.P.T.S. was officially opened June 22, 1942, by the Duke of Kent and during the war years under the capable direction of Mr. Bernardo, the school achieved an outstanding efficiency record. It twice won the Minister for Air's Efficiency Permit, being runner-up on two other occasions. Finally, it won a most coveted award, the "Cock of the Walk," trophy awarded for the most efficiently operated elementary flying training station in the British Commonwealth Air Training Scheme.

Also under the Brantford man's guiding influence, the Station achieved an outstanding record in Victory Loan Campaigns, over-subscribing its quota on each Loan, once to the extent of 212 per cent.

In conversation with The Expositor, Mr. Bernardo stated that while now back in "business" once again, he is still vitally interested in aviation and alive to the future possibilities of air travel. He is Vice-President of the Royal Canadian Flying Club Association, and is in charge of the Ontario Zone. His interest in the Brant-Norfolk Aero Club is still as keen as ever, for he was one of the original directors. This club is becoming active once again and will re-open in the very near future, he said.

Early in the war, the County Motors Showroom on Colborne Street was closed and the building leased. Mr. Bernardo stated that the showroom would be reopened shortly and that an extensive program of remodelling and redecoration was planned.

Sam Bernardo was born in Grimsby and came to Brantford to establish County Motors in 1933.

Meat rationing came in for a lot of criticism from council and the following resolution was passed:—Mitchell—Durham—That in the opinion of this council there is no need for meat rationing in this country as there is plenty of live stock providing the meat packers have the help and the capacity to handle same.

Councillor Mitchell congratulated County Council upon their stand on the serious lake erosion question. He stated that there were a lot of fruit growers in this section who would be pleased to accompany County Council to Ottawa if a deputation is sent to interview the government regarding the building of weirs and breakwalls.

AND YOU'VE GOT INFLATION

Let's not deceive ourselves by the belief that the danger is over—just because the war is won. And let's remember that inflation is always followed by deflation with its misery of bankrupt businesses, mortgage foreclosures and unemployment.

It's your job and your savings that are at stake.

The danger of inflation, with its black shadow—deflation—will remain as long as goods are scarce and insufficient to meet demands. That may be 6 months, 12 months, 18 months. Only time will tell. As quickly as controls are unnecessary, they are dropped.

After nearly 6 years of war, industry cannot switch over to normal production of civilian goods by a snap of the fingers. Reconstruction takes time. The whole system of raw materials, labor and production has to be reorganized.

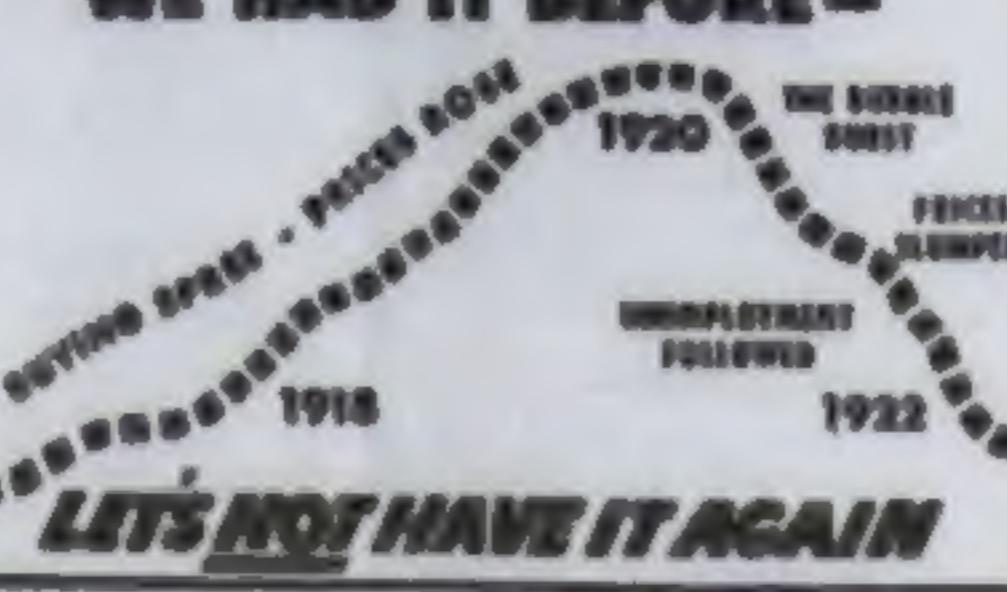

In the meantime, price ceilings, rationing and other controls are the safeguard for every one of us. It's everybody's responsibility to help make them work.

$5 — Keep on watching your buying. Don't rush to buy scarce goods. Keep on saving your money. Put it into Victory bonds and War Savings certificates.

Keep on supporting wages and price controls, and rationing.

Keep on fighting inflation and its black shadow . . . deflation.

WE HAD IT BEFORE—

You can tell when the nation returns to normal. They will begin digging up the streets again.

This will also be recalled as an era when one had to be more lucky than efficient to find an efficiency apartment.

by for sewers and storm sewers and also the sewage disposal plant. Also get Dr. Berry's full recommendations on bringing the disposal plant to what it should be for this town."

In opening the meeting Mayor Bull in a few remarks drew attention to the fact that "this was the first time in six years that Town council has assembled in Peace, and while it was a joyful peace to many it also was a sad peace for others who had lost loved ones in the protection of their Empire."

A. J. Mulligan of Woodstock wrote council offering to purchase the lot on Main street between the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Stephen's block. He stated that he wished to erect thereon a two story brick and concrete building, 40 feet wide and 60 feet deep. Ground floor to be all show room, upper storey to be two apartments and show room. Council set a price of $2,000 on the property which is 120 deep, and Property Committee will deal with Mr. Mulligan.

President Lothian and a delegation from the Canadian Legion appeared before council and offered to buy the vacant property on Main street west, just at the turn of Palmer's Hill, for the erection of a two storey club house and auditorium. The building would be 40-50. Council agreed to sell the property to the Legion for $1.

Mr. Mai of Toronto, representing the owners of the Roxby theatre, appeared before council and asked that they lift the restrictions recently placed, by bylaw, on the holding of shows after midnight on Sunday nights, particularly on the nights preceding a Monday holiday. Council took no action, allowing the bylaw to stand as is.

Councillor Ingelhart stated that the new town truck had arrived, but the steel dump body had yet to come. He was given authority to buy a regulation snow plow blade for the truck.

The question of doing away with the Water Commission and having the waterworks come under the direct control of the council was to the fore again when Councillor Hewitt presented a Notice of Motion that he would at the October meeting introduce a bylaw, to be submitted to the ratepayers at the January elections, for the dissolution of the Commission.

Engineer Urqu recommended the laying of six inch tile in the new portion of Queen's Lawn cemetery, paralleling the C.N.R. tracks, that is being opened up for sale of lots, in order that the land can be properly drained. The work will be gone forward with.

Rev. W. J. Watt on behalf of Trinity United Church extended an invitation to council to attend Trinity Church in a body. Council will attend on Sunday, October 14th.

A petition signed by Mrs. Cora Boden and 37 others was presented to council asking that sewers be constructed on Robinson street north between Main street and the C.N.R. tracks and on John street between Robinson and Depot Sts. Council is unable to take any action on the petition until such time as the disposal plant situation is cleared up.

Mayor Bull stated that he had been receiving many complaints about weeds on vacant lots not being cut.

Councillor Ingelhart reported that the weeds had all been cut except in the Fairview section, but he was having difficulty in securing labor to do the work.

The bad traffic hazard at the foot of the Mountain at the turn down Mountain street has been removed by Chief Turner, the new owner of the property by his trimming of trees and bushes.
